

Master Social Work

Qualification awarded
Master of Arts HES-SO in Social Work

Description

The programme comprises four compulsory modules:

- Theory of social work
- Comparisons of social policies
- Change and innovation in organisations
- Research theories and methods

The Master's in Social Work also emphasises training on research, with participation in a thematic research workshop and completion of a personal research project (Master's thesis).

There are also a number of optional specialism modules based on various topics encountered in social work:

- Professional autonomy and responsibility
- Cultural diversity and citizenship
- The elderly and social work
- Interculturality and disability
- Local policies
